

Evacuation and Repatriation

Global healthcare

In an emergency, if one of your clients has a serious accident or illness and can't get the help they need locally, their AXA plan enables them to be evacuated to the nearest suitable medical facility – whether that's a short drive or an international flight away. And then, when they're ready and well enough, they'll be taken back home.

The Evacuation and Repatriation service is available 24/7, 365 days a year.*

How it works

Following a medical emergency where local care isn't enough, customers can call their Emergency Assistance Centre* for help. The team is on hand 24/7 to take the details of where the customer is, and where they need to go. Whether the journey's by road or air, arrangements will be made for them to be transported to a medical provider where they can receive the appropriate inpatient care. We'll cover the costs of getting them there and, once the customer has received treatment and is well enough to travel, they'll be transported back to where they need to be.

In the unfortunate event a customer passes away while working or travelling abroad, their repatriation service is also available to bring them home.**

Handy hint

It's a good idea for your customers to share their insurance details with a travelling companion or next of kin – just in case someone needs to make the call on their behalf.

Benefits for individuals and families

- ✓ Reassurance that support is available in a medical emergency, even when travelling alone.
- ✓ With access to more appropriate treatment facilities, customers are more likely to receive the right treatment, right away – meaning they can be on their path to recovery sooner.
- ✓ There’s no additional cost for using the service, so the customer isn’t left out of pocket because of costly medical transport fees following an incident.
- ✓ No need to worry about any local health regulations or laws for their journey – it’s all taken care of.

Benefits for businesses

- ✓ While expensive, the evacuation and repatriation transport costs don’t impact the claims fund – so there’s no effect on the business’ renewal price, even if employees need to make a claim.
- ✓ Employee is transported to a facility where they can receive the appropriate treatment quickly, which can lead to better medical outcomes and get them back to work sooner.
- ✓ Employers can demonstrate duty of care, providing emergency assistance to employees living or working in remote areas.
